

A photograph of a modern preschool classroom. In the foreground, a large, white, curved table dominates the view. In the background, several young children are engaged in play on a light-colored floor. One child is sitting on a white bench, while others are standing or sitting nearby. The room features a white wall with a prominent red rectangular panel and several dark rectangular openings. The overall atmosphere is bright and clean.

preschool & kindergarten architecture